GENERAL WEYLER HAS CABLED HIS RESIGNATION TO THE QUEEN

ispatch to New York Herald Is Authority.

RISI DID IT

Captain General of ^{St. Lucia} Could Not Stand Under the Sagasta Cabinet.

New York October 1.—A special to The New York Herald from Havana says that General Weyler has resigned.

Weyler's resignation, while sudden, will be as a result of the events of yesterday.

Weyler has had the full support and confidence of the cabinet which has resigned. He has known of Sagasta's opinion to the resigned ministry and has decided that if Sagasta was selected to a cabinet he would resign. Weyler says that he would continue at the head of the Spanish army no longer than it took Sagasta to recall him. He did not care to submit to a recall and sickly as he was informed of the cable he cabled his resignation.

The Talk in Washington. Washington, September 30.—Minister Wood, up to the hour of closing the meeting today, had not informed the department of the Spanish cabinet.

main point of interest here at present is the composition of the new cabinet. It is expected that Mr. Wood will not neglect to inform and cable the government the earliest information on that point. In administration today opinions are fairly divided as to the outcome, whether the new cabinet will be liberal or conservative, and as to the matter of greatest importance, as influencing the ability to be followed as to Cuba, there is a strong desire to obtain information on the prospects.

President had scarcely reached the house this morning before Secretary Ralston called to see him. He was closely followed by Assistant Secretary Day, though it is understood that the lat- ralist had largely to do with state department appointments. It is not doubted that there was a discussion of the last developments.

the absence of the Spanish minister, Dubois is the seniofficial here, but is not called at state department as not, as far as can be learned, re-official adviser on Madrid.

Maple of Conservative Regime. Familiar Spanish affairs conditions point to one of two re- sults, the complete collapse of the conservative regime which has been unable to an Spanish policy and its adoption by a liberal line with pacific military tendencies toward Cuba, or a transition ministry with Azaña at the head as a temporary step to tide over affairs until the new cabinet is formed. Officials believe complete change of ministry and party, with Sagasta, as the new more probable.

In case it is not Sagasta, more likely to become minister of foreign affairs is best remembered in the United States. It made him for criticism in Spain, but was justified by his political opponents when they paid the claim that the government shall not carry on a banking business.

WILL FACE CHARGE OF ARSON.

Former Citizen of Anniston Arrested on an Indictment.

Anniston, Ala., September 30.—(Special)—

E. F. Johnson, for many years one of Anniston's most prominent business men, but recently moved to Birmingham, was arrested here last night on a charge of arson.

He was indicted by the grand jury, and learning of this, came over voluntarily to face the charge, the arrest being made on his arrival here.

The crime charged is that of originating the fire a few months since which burned out the Palace shoe store, his freight money and his savings in the United States to collect them in the United States. Finances are in a bad way.

He is the only bank on the island, and a few days ago, together with the rest of the leading firms of the city, have been engaged for the defense, and an effort is being made to secure bail through habeas corpus proceedings.

ATHENS, SEPTEMBER 30.—The Greek cabinet has resigned.

The Ralli cabinet, which was sworn in on April 20th last, is made up as follows:

President of the council of ministers and minister of marine, M. Ralli.

Minister of the interior, M. Theotokis.

Minister of foreign affairs, M. Skoutoucos.

Minister of public instruction, M. Autakides.

Minister of justice, M. Triautodilaca.

Minister of finance, M. Simopoulos.

Minister of war, Colonel Tosatos.

London, October 1.—The Athens correspondents of The Times say:

"M. Ralli, when presenting the chamber the preliminary treaty of peace, took strong exception to its terms, attributing to Germany all that had been done against the prospects.

He declared that he would not submit a resolution approving the treaty, because it was execrable and therefore did not require approval; and also because such a step would be contrary to the sovereign rights of the state and the crown.

MASSACHUSETTS BOLTERS MEET

Gold Democrats in State Convention Nominate Ticket.

Boston, September 30.—The state convention of the gold democrats and the national gold miners met today and nominated the following ticket:

Governor—Dr. William Everett.

Lieutenant Governor—James E. Cotter.

Secretary—Bernard M. Wolf.

Attorney General—Reverend General—Horace P. Teller.

Attorney General—William McClellan.

The platform opens with the following declaration regarding the currency:

"We desire to and insist upon the maintenance of the present gold standard."

We believe that the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, when the present commercial value of silver is 16 to 1, is destructive to the interests of wage earners, of depositors in savings banks, of the insured, of the veterans, and of the whole people. Therefore, we desire the great financial principles which guided Jefferson, Jackson and Cleveland—that is, the sole function of the government is to maintain a sound currency to provide a standard of value and to coin metallic money; every dollar of which shall be of equal intrinsic value; that nothing but gold and silver shall be legal tender, and that the government shall not carry on a banking business."

WILL FACE CHARGE OF ARSON.

FEVER IS SPREADING SLOWLY ABOUT TOWN

No Case Has Yet Been Found in New Orleans.

THE DEATH RATE DECREASING

Twenty-One New Cases Reported to Board of Health Last Night.

ONLY TWO DIED DURING THE SAME TIME

Dr. Guiters Describes His Trip Attempting to Reach Texas. The Situation.

New Orleans, September 30.—There was neither improvement nor aggravation of the yellow fever situation here today. Cases were numerously reported, and as early as 6 o'clock threatened to equal if not exceed the number of last night, but at that hour the death record was small. One case was left over, not appearing in the official bulletin last night, but being mentioned in the dispatches to the Associated Press.

The fever seems to be slowly spreading around town, but up to the present time no new cases have been found and the authorities have thus been able to carry on their work of quarantine with some success. Many of the cases within the past few days have been found in houses where sickness already existed, but the instances are extremely rare where the cases have been transmitted from one house to another adjoining.

Yesterday's record of four deaths created some alarm, but when today, up to night time, there was no evidence that the pace set yesterday was being kept up, the city breathed much easier.

The record today was as follows:

DEATHS.

Patrick Scallan, 48, Galena street. James F. Poulson, 1115 St. Mary. Pierre Poulson, Beauregard hospital. NEW CASES.

Edward Roddy, 1209 Chartres street. Mary McCollum, 1115 St. Mary. John McCollum, 1115 St. Mary. Miss Irene Wiggins, Hampson and Broad- way.

Alex McHardy, Pine and Maple. Mrs. McHardy, 1117 Pine and Maple. Sam J. Morris, 209 Conti.

George Messina, 204 Conti.

One case at the marine hospital, name not given.

Who the Dead Are.

The death of Poulson occurred last night in the yellow fever hospital after the board of health had been closed, hence it is reported today. Very little is known either of the history of the case or of the life of Poulson. He was taken to the hospital from the detention camp.

James Gray, who died this morning, is a northerner and has not lived here long enough to be acclimated. His wife is also said to be ill.

The man Scallan reported dead from yellow fever tonight is the patient on Galena street who died last night and as to the cause of whose death there was much doubt. He was buried today and at 6:30 tonight a certificate of death from yellow fever was furnished to the board of health. He had been taken ill there the other day.

The attending physician said the case was one of yellow fever; an expert said it was not yellow fever; the man died last night; this morning the authorities buried him in a rough pine box without any religious or other ceremonies, just as if he had died of yellow fever. Word was sent to the board of health that the certificate would be furnished later, but it was not sent in until dark.

In the meantime the house has been quarantined and its inmates prevented from having any communication with the outside world.

The case has developed one fact and that is that the sanitary officers are given plenary power in the matter of burial, if the cause of death is believed to have been yellow fever. Cemetery sextons have been made to understand that it is not necessary that certificates should be shown them as authority to permit burials.

About the Sick.

Among the cases of today is Edward Roddy, the well-known railroad man connected with the Illinois Central. He is the second man of that line that has been stricken. H. F. Reynolds, freight man of Valley, being the first. A son of George McHardy, of the Metropolitan Life, was taken ill this evening. The father was stricken several days ago. The family removed from Baltimore to New Orleans about five years ago.

The McHardy case is in a house where sickness has already existed.

Today's record was encouraging from the fact that the fever crosses the river, one case being reported from Algiers. Algiers has three thousand population, is the landing place for the Southern Pacific steamers, the site of the Southern Pacific shops, and has maintained a partial quarantine against New Orleans from the beginning of the fever here.

Guiters Speaks of the Scare.

Dr. John Guiters left his sleep to waken at an early hour and returned to the St. Charles hotel, where he had left yesterday on his intended trip to Texas, accompanying Dr. Carr, Dr. M. W. Olliver.

As already described in the Associated Press dispatch, the special train was turned back at Rayne, La. It reached New Orleans at 12 o'clock this morning.

Baltimore, September 30.—Although Boston has one more game to play with Brooklyn and Baltimore will play two more with Washington at Monument City, the race for the league pennant of 1897 practically came to an end with the conclusion of today's game at Elm Park.

Boston won the game, while Washington trounced the champion, which leaves Boston the undisputed champions for 1898.

Even should Baltimore win both their games they could attain a percentage of 700 points. Should Brooklyn win from Boston St. Louis the latter would still have a percentage over 400.

The excitement at day's game was extraordinary. In the second inning, when the Boston scored 6 runs, which gave them a safe lead, men and women alike arose in their seats and yelled frantically.

When the lead became great that there was no more hope for the home team, the most faithful joined Boston and their roosters, and for a timorous could hear nothing else but people shouting "Boston."

Young Dunn was put into the box to fool the new champion. Captain Griffin might as well have stooped a wooden man.

The Bear Eaters had the batting clothes on and the faster Dunn used them across the plate to the harder Captain Duffy's men.

He would line the leather on. The only trouble was that the batting was all on one side.

The home team could do but little with Klobedanz, the Boston trolley. About the only time they hit him will any effect was in the third inning, when they scored all their runs.

The fielding, too, like the batting, was all on one side. The Brooklyns made only four actual errors, but some of the players were guilty of some of the most stupid plays seen in many days. Boston's work in the field was simply marvelous. Nothing seemed too hard for them to get. Lowe and Tammie cut off four hits by their brilliant fielding.

The story of today's game is like the story of a storm chaser in sea.

Washington started the game getting in the very first inning. Selee getting a pass to first and going to second on Gettman's single to center. Demontreville bunted; it was not far from the plate. Dr. Pond might have received a dead play if it had hit, but it slipped through his fingers, and the bases were off. McGuire fouled out to Doyle, but Tucker bunted one into left, sending Selee and Gettman across the plate with two runs.

A posted game will be played to-morrow and with Saturday's contest the season in Baltimore will come to an end.

On Sunday morning the Orioles will depart for Boston with the hope that they may at least save the Temple cup and gather in the lion's share of the gate receipts.

More Misrepresentation.

The Macon Telegraph, the most valuable assistant of the republican party in Georgia, is constantly discovering more's nests about The Constitution. Last spring it declared with great flourish of trumpets that a change in some of the stock of The Constitution indicated a change in the editorial policy of the paper in its staunch support of democratic principles as enunciated in the party's national platform. Wide publicity was given to this gratuitous effort to injure The Constitution, and the report was extensively circulated by many newspapers which, having been democratic, had suddenly become advocates of a policy of the most insidious warfare on the regular democratic organization. This policy having elicited very cold comfort in the south, every effort has been made to secure compensation in the isolation wherein our quasi-republican contemporaries have been dwelling for the past year.

In an elaborate Atlanta special published with conspicuous display in yesterday's Macon Telegraph, the same old story is revamped, and the declaration is made that through the co-operation of Business Manager Hemphill, the largest individual stockholder, a change of policy was forthcoming, and that The Constitution would surrender its position as the most conspicuous southern newspaper advocate of the national democratic platform. This information, if true, would be, for the management of that paper, the happiest piece of news that ever found its way into the columns of The Macon Telegraph, for it would carry with it the assurance of companionship in its pitiable isolation.

It is really not necessary to correct such oft-repeated misrepresentation—the purpose of which is so apparent—but in order that there may be no possible ground for misunderstanding Colonel Hemphill's position, it is well for him to state it over his own signature, as follows:

To the Public—It has often happened in my thirty years' connection with The Constitution that competitors have sought to discredit its policy and its purposes by indirect methods. This morning's Macon Telegraph contains a sensational statement indicating that a change of policy in The Constitution's emphatic endorsement of the democratic platform is contemplated, and that such change will be brought about through my co-operation.

As the largest single stockholder in The Constitution, I wish to emphatically deny this revamped statement to which publicity is occasionally given with the view of injuring The Constitution. These same statements were made last spring and so emphatically denied then that further denial is scarcely necessary.

Suffice it to say that of the 1,000 shares of stock of The Constitution Publishing Company, an overwhelming majority is emphatically in favor of standing by the democratic platform and by the regular organization of the democratic party, both state and national.

As to the other stock, it is like any good business stock, marketable, and fortunately there has always been good demand for it, and it is quoted at most satisfactory figures. About a hundred of the 1,000 shares of the stock of the paper has very frequently changed hands in the ordinary course of business investment. We cannot control the purchase or sale of that stock, any more than we can control transactions in any other line of business; but we know that those who buy it do so with the full knowledge that they are making a safe investment.

As the founder of the paper and as for thirty years the head of its business department, it is gratifying to me to know that its stock is considered a good business investment and is in such gratifying demand. I attribute this largely to the fact that the paper has always been a sturdy champion of democratic principles, and because it has had no apologies to make for having steadily supported the regular organization of the democratic party, both state and national. This is always been the policy of The Constitution, and it always will be, so far as I am concerned.

W. A. HEMPHILL.

This ought to quiet the restless hand of The Macon Telegraph; but in less than three weeks, possibly in less than the day, it will give currency to other equally absurd rumors about The Constitution for the sole purpose of injuring it. Unfortunately, however, the paper of the day, The Constitution, ing the past month than The Macon Telegraph has on its entire list, and that is what's the matter with The Telegraph.

The editorial policy of The Constitution does not need explanation nor justification—it speaks for itself. If ever a change is contemplated, it will not be reached by the insidious methods pursued by The Telegraph. Whenever the policy advocated by The Telegraph becomes that of The Constitution, this paper will have the manhood to declare openly its republican affiliation, and it will not stab the democratic party while pretending to be a democratic organ.

It is needless to say that The Constitution is as earnest an advocate now of the emphatic endorsement of the national platform of the party as it was of the policy which led to the making of that platform. If there was reason for the party to make that declaration, there is infinitely more reason why it should endorse the action then taken. Events have in every way justified the democratic cause.

And now it will be interesting to watch the next development and to observe the color of the next misrepresentation.

Words of Cheer.

The Constitution takes pleasure in presenting to its readers this morning some of the words of cheer which have been spoken of the action of Atlanta, by the press of the country.

When Atlanta threw her gates open to those who sought refuge from pestilence, she did so because of that spirit of humanity which prompts men to relieve others in distress. Satisfied from past experience of fifty years and medical tests that there was no danger in the admission of these people, it would have been inhuman to have barred them out. That this would call upon the city the fears of the vivid was well known, but Atlanta took her stand on the right side.

The Mobile Register speaks truly of the situation, and The Constitution makes haste to acknowledge its tribute.

That the pestilence may soon pass away, and the noble people of the gulf states be relieved from the cloud which now hangs over them, is the sincere hope of every Atlantan.

The Alabama Quarantine.

There are symptoms that the ridiculous quarantine regulations of Alabama against Atlanta will be somewhat modified. It is certainly time that there should be a return to reason and common sense among our neighbors across the line.

We sincerely trust that the character of the quarantine was suggested by hysteria, resulting from fright, and that it was not due to any prejudice or spite against this city. There are certainly no grounds for the entertainment of these feelings by the people of Montgomery and Birmingham, and yet it seems absurd to suppose that the authorities have been too badly frightened to enact such regulations as the wisdom, prudence and experience of Savannah, Augusta, Macon and Brunswick have.

Statistics show that between June 30, 1869, and June 30, 1896, we shipped abroad $275,000,000 more gold than we received. Between the same dates, we sent abroad merchandise, silver (gold value), gold and stocks and bonds to the amount of $2,724,000,000 in excess of our receipts. For this vast amount, we have no equivalent of any kind whatsoever.

The coupons of the bonds sold to England called for 6 per cent interest at par, equal to 15 per cent on the gold cost of the bonds, 40 cents. Consequently, this 15 per cent in coupons redeemed England's debt to this country in six years.

In other words, England bought $1,500,000,000 of our bonds, paid for them with the coupons attached thereto, getting possession of the bonds and the interest on them thereafter for nothing. Moreover, before the six years expired our government began to pay off the English holders of these bonds, not at 40 cents on the dollar (which had been paid for them) but at a premium of 20-odd per cent above the par of gold—at a premium of more than half the original purchase price.

This sort of hocus-pocus is called financing in some circles, and those who object to it or criticize it are denounced as ignoramuses and anarchists.

To the figures given, Mr. Stickney adds the statement that the annual income of $90,000,000 obtained from us by the foreign holders of these bonds has enabled them to get so many more of our other securities at a geometric rate of increase, coupled with compounded interest, that we now have to send abroad an annual tribute of $370,000,000 in cash, equal to the value of our whole wheat crop. And all this without charging the principal.

What is most surprising is that Mr. Stickney does not perceive that the main source of the trouble is the fact that we, a debtor nation, have decided that gold is the only available capital, and as this gold is all held by our creditors and their financial agents, we must continue to go deeper and deeper in debt. Each wave of prosperity under the gold standard means a new load of debt. Can Mr. Stickney inform us where the end is to be?

The fiscal year will close with a deficit of $45,000,000 in (or out of) the treasury. Is Mr. Hanna responsible for this great triumph of republican financing?

The Washington Post actually quotes The Austin (Tex.) Statesman, to show that Mr. Bryan is in "error."

Old Uncle Abe Hewitt is against the democrats in New York this year. The old man never was a democrat unless he was running for office.

George Fred Williams is candidate for governor of Massachusetts as a slum-pure democrat. This is a victory, even if he is defeated.

Mr. McKinley is looking over his collection to see if he has any more colored postmasters to offer to the south.

Mr. Hanna admits that Ohio audiences are very quiet this year.

Will some one tell us why Foraker is not giving public performances on his trombone for the benefit of the republican party?

A Growing Danger.

From the Marietta, Ga., Journal.

"A government by injunction" is an encroachment upon the rights of men. The courts these days, not only restrain miners from doing this and that, but they issue injunctions restraining preachers from preaching or speakers from speaking. The constitutional right of free speech has never been doubted until now, when courts put a lock and key on a man's mouth and say you shall not preach or speak. We thought that the courts were to hold men responsible for the abuse of free speech and not to abridge the right to speak. That clause in the Chicago platform that denounced "government by injunction" is just beginning to dawn upon the people in this country.

As matters now stand, it would be impossible for a refugee, or a person who had been exposed to the infection to go from Atlanta into any Alabama city or town, even if there were no other quarantine regulations than those instituted by this city.

No health certificate is issued to any person who has been in the infected region within twenty days. This time limit is fixed by the yellow fever experts themselves. Should they fix the limit at forty or fifty days, the rule would be rigidly observed and enforced by the Atlanta authorities.

So far as the health of this city is concerned, it was never better. Its sanitary condition is more perfect than for twenty years. Its sewers are as clean every morning as it is a heavy rain-shower had drenched them the night before.

The water of life, from Mobile which developed here is commendable. In short, as we said the other day, the time has arrived when the Alabama authorities, acting in their own and the state's interest, could well afford to let reason and common sense resume their sway. They could well afford to take down their panic-breeding flags, and follow the example of Savannah, Augusta, Macon and Brunswick—indeed, of every southern state except Alabama.

Financial Hocus Pocus and Our Foreign Debt.

Mr. A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago Great Western railway, gives some interesting facts and makes what The Daily Financial News of New York, calls "rather startling statements" concerning our past financial history. These statements occur in an article written by Mr. Stickney entitled "Programme of National Finance."

Since 1860, the people of this country have sold to foreigners more than a billion and a half dollars' worth of merchandise than we have bought from them. Nevertheless, we owe to these foreigners the enormous amount of three or four billion dollars. To put the matter differently, we have given foreigners the title to prosperity which, including the debt we owe abroad, is equal to the value of four or five thousand millions of dollars. For this vast sum we have nothing to show, no equivalent of any kind whatsoever.

And now it will be interesting to watch the next development and to observe the color of the next misrepresentation.

Indian Summer Song.

A lulling song of locusts—the hum of golden bees—

And you seem to hear the sap flow through the thrilled veins of the trees.

And the hazy, may, daisy, dreaming world around you seems

Like a mystic land enchanted—like a paradise of dreams!

Blue smoke from happy huts—

A rain of ripened nuts—

And far away, o'er meadows ringing,

Sweet sound, as of a woman singing:

"Comin' through the rye—

"Comin' through the rye!"

And then the faint, uncertain, silver tinkle of a bell—

That summons all the winds to prayer in many a cloistered dell;

And then a thrushes music from groves with golden gleams,

The wild note of a mockingbird, and still the dreams!

Blue smoke from happy huts—

A rain of ripened nuts—

And far away, o'er meadows ringing,

Sweet sound, as of a woman singing:

"Comin' through the rye—

"Comin' through the rye!"

Autumn Briefs from Billville.

These poets who are always singing of the "beautiful autumn season" never pulled any fonder, and shucked mighty little corn.

The trees and foliage generally are now displaying the riches of the year. We are glad to see that the trees have thus given a good hint to "prosperity."

We have no fault with the blessings of providence, but we still think it is unfortunate that we cannot coin the "gold of the year" into cash to pay our grocery bills.

Of course, it's right, as things go, to quarantine against these earthly refugees. But suppose the good Lord quarantines us when we're refugees to heaven?

Billville's gates are still wide open to the yellow fever sufferers. The fact is, we've come to the conclusion that we're human

Nothing of a Politician.

I don't spend none of my good time in politics an' sich;

I ain't a-makin' folks grow poor, an' me a-gittin' rich;

I ain't a-pesterin' any one—jest takin' of my ease,

A-huntin' when I wants to, an' fishin' when I please!

Just let 'em take the offices, an' run 'em fur an' night!

I'd rather have a violet from a gal's hand—

—sweet an' shy,

Than run the whole United States!—so, let the country roll.

While a streak of autumn sunshine is jest streamin' through my soul!

We know very well where Major Moses P. Handy has gone, but what we want to know is—where is that bright column he used to write for The Times-Herald, entitled: "From Major Handy's Point of View?" His friends miss it.

A South Carolina editor says: "The town has quarantined against the yellow fever; but our subscribers quarantined against us long ago."

Very few ports are open—since the yellow fever scare. Even port wine has a slim showing.

Police Committee Discusses the Out- break of Burglaries.

The police committee of the general council, Councilman Camp, Chahan, and Alderman Hirsch and Councilman Maddox, held a meeting yesterday at noon. Several petitions for liquor laws and other matters of a routine nature were disposed of by the committee.

The members of the committee discussed the recent outbreak of burglaries in the city and how the police force is too small to cope with the offense. The committee will urge their associates in council to increase the appropriation for the police department so that the police force can be increased.

WHO PAYS FOR BROKEN HEELS

Interesting Question To Be Decided by Judge Orr.

An interesting case was heard yesterday in which a bicyclist figured very prominently. The question is, is it necessary to pay damages to a bicyclist who is injured by a car?

It seems that some time ago J. P. Stoffer rented a wheel from Copeland's shop and broke it. They claimed damages and sued for the same through their attorney, Vassa Wooley.

The defendant was represented by T. B. Williams and claimed that the owner was not liable and that only property care was necessary and in that the owner was not liable.

HIS FIRST ORDER TO THE OLD VETS

General C. A. Evans Sends Out a Communication to the Camps.

HE CALLS FOR ORGANIZATION

Big Reunion To Come Off in Atlanta Next Year.

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR THE BIG MEET

General Evans Also Calls Upon the Sons and Daughters of the Confederacy To Organize.

General C. A. Evans, commander of the forces of Georgia, has issued his first order in reference to the Confederate Veterans' reunion, which will come to Atlanta next year.

A statement is called to the fact that it will be necessary for the camps to organize and that the survivors must get their organizations in shape.

The order was sent out yesterday morning and will be important information for all confederates in the state. Following is the full order:

"Headquarters Georgia Division United Confederate Veterans, Atlanta, Ga., October 1, 1897.—To Confederate Veterans of the South, and all confederate soldiers and sailors to be held in Georgia, at Atlanta, 1898, will be made the most interesting and enthusiastic reunion that has yet been held. Assurance is given that every effort will be put forth in Atlanta to make the opening worth of the time spent in the Southern army and navy. The information from all parts of the state shows a general gratification that Georgia will have this opportunity to bring the people together who responded to the call of their states and illustrated the valor of southern men on numerous hard fought battlefields."

"The first preparation for the event having been energetically made since the close of the reunion at Nashville, it is the duty of the commanding general of the Georgia Division to call upon the state to should at once begin to make arrangements to attend the reunion in full force."

"Commanders will therefore call their camps together not later than the first Tuesday in next November to adopt such measures as will secure the attendance of the whole body. Any information that may be desired will be furnished on application to me at these headquarters."

"Confederate camps in every town and county where no camp has been formed are urged to meet at once and organize. The necessary papers will be furnished from the headquarters and applied for."

"There are now nearly ninety camps in the state, but it is desired that the number be increased to 150 camps, or at least one in every county. The camp in each county should be 5,000 Georgia veterans in line."

"Sons of confederate soldiers are notified that they will be relied on as the chief factor in the success of the reunion for the memorable virtues of their fathers and mothers, amidst the trials of war, as observed with pride and it is due to them that we will have a great success in this occasion which will exhibit the most sacred, passionate and patriotic memories. Arrangements will be made for their assembly, entertainment, and a place will be assigned them in line."

"Daughters of the Confederacy, whose mothers were fair to pay the price of their sons in the grand cause, as they were foremost in cheering the soldier in the times of battle, are respectfully solicited to form chapters, and to grant their enthusiastic aid in making the reunion eminently representative of the south as it was and as it is."

"The members of the state have so generously assisted at all times in giving publicity to all confederate notices, as to encourage us to request that this circular be published by all the papers."

WAS MAD WITH PARSONS.

Tom Grimes Curses a Negro Preacher and Is Arrested.

Mean whisky produces some strange effects and when Tom Grimes, a negro of police court fame, got the outside of too many dogs, it is a fact he took a sudden dislike to preachers.

He finally met one of the innocent objects of his wrath on the street and he just "burst in and cursed that person until it was scandalous," as one of the good old sisters expressed it.

Rev. J. C. Evans, pastor of the Baptist tabernacle, who is a person who fell under Grimes' malice and he was in police court yesterday afternoon to testify against the transgressor.

Rev. Evans swore that when he met Grimes the man with many vile oaths said that none of "these long coat preachers were worth a d—n."

The recorder fined Grimes $5 and costs.

DAVY'S REVENGE WAS LOADED.

He Gets Arrested Himself and Was Heavily Fined by the Recorder.

Yesterday morning Dave Daley, one of the negro dudges in the city, rushed up to Patrolman Crim on Decatur street and asked that Lula Cole be arrested for stealing $4 from him.

The arrest was made, but Lula accused Daley of stealing a smoothing iron and so the officer arrested both the man and the woman.

The couple were tried in the police court yesterday afternoon and each fined $10 and costs.

"Lawdy, mercy, judge," exclaimed Dave, "he's mighty hard to be fined $10 when you've been robbed of all de money you's got."

"Mighty hard," replied the recorder, "but it's a go all the same."

Mr. T. G. Healey Weaker.

Mr. T. G. Healey's condition yesterday was not as favorable as the day before and it is thought that he is growing much weaker. He has been retaining an even condition for a week but the change yesterday was not what was expected, as it was hoped that he would begin to recover.

INSULTED OFFICERS SEEK VINDICATION

Detectives Claim That W. F. DuPre Insulted Them.

WARM WORDS IN POLICE COURT

A Lively Spat Between Captain Slaughter and the Recorder.

POLICE JUDGE OBJECTS TO THREATS

Officers Swore DuPre Cursed Although He Was a Delegate to a Church Convention.

The city detective bureau was in the police court yesterday afternoon to get vindication. Captain Slaughter, the head of the bureau, was present, as were also several of the detectives.

The members of the bureau appeared as witnesses against W. F. DuPre.

The detectives swore that as they were passing down Decatur street, Wednesday night to see about Detective Walton getting shot they heard DuPre make an insulting remark.

Now for some time past several people have been casting aspersions upon Atlanta's detectives and have become tired of it.

So when DuPre made the remark he did not offend quietly took him to the police barracks. DuPre had money and put up his coat for his appearance in the recorder's court.

In testifying Captain Slaughter said:

"If your honor please we have become tired of hearing your department made a butt of and become tired of it.

The detectives swore that as they were passing down Decatur street, Wednesday night to see about Detective Walton getting shot they heard DuPre make an insulting remark.

When asked what he had to say DuPre replied:

"If I made the remark I certainly do not intend to insult the department or anyone else. I just from the corner of my eye saw here on a visit after an absence of Atlanta of four years. I know nothing about Atlanta's detective department, and if I said what they say I did it must have been merely as a joke. I don't believe that I cursed."

Some one in the courtroom stated DuPre was here as a delegate to a Baptist convention.

"Well, he isn't much of a delegate," was the recorder's comment.

In deciding the case Recorder Calhoun remarked that he did not think he ought to name the defendant for his criticism of the detectives.

"Mr. DuPre is a stranger here," said the recorder, "and I cannot think he was vicious in his allusion to the officers."

Captain Slaughter appeared to be somewhat ruffled at the view taken by the court and he said that he and his men would have to protect themselves if the courts did not do it.

This dispensed his honor and he replied:

"Captain Slaughter, you take care of your department and I will take care of mine. I have a duty to perform here and I will do it as I think best. It is not right for you to make any threats to this court."

Captain Slaughter explained that his remarks were not intended as threats, but he wished to say that the time had come when something had to be done to stop the insults at the detective department.

"If you will bring me the right kind of a case here," the recorder replied, "I will take pleasure in imposing a heavy fine."

DuPre was made to pay a small fine of $3 and costs for using the oath which he had not used on the street.

He paid the fine and as he left the courtroom a police officer remarked in an audible whisper:

"I guess he will go back to his church convention."

FORT SOLDIERS RETURN.

The formal official order was issued yesterday by Commander W. W. Davies:

"The John B. Gordon camp Sons of Confederate Veterans will meet in the Gate City Guard armory on Peachtree street on Tuesday night, October 5th, instead of tonight."

"The Confederate Veterans of the city are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

The post office order of the meeting of the Sons of Confederate Veterans will be issued Friday, October 1st, to Tuesday, October 5th, on account of a desire that all veterans should have full opportunity to receive the same.

Prominent veterans will address the camp and business of importance will be taken up and attended to.

Arrangements are being made for the entertainment of veterans in Atlanta next summer will be discussed."

CLEARINGS FOR SEPTEMBER.

As Compared with Last Year Month Was Slightly Off.

The published statement that the clearings for September showed an increase over the same month last year was erroneous, this September being slightly off as compared with last September.

The over the nine months of 1897 the same period of last year was erroneous.

The slight decrease in the September clearings is said to be attributed to the price of cotton.

September cotton, 1897, brought 5-10 cents, while cotton this September brought 5-6 cents, the difference in price probably accounting for the falling off in the clearings.

SINKING OF THE STEAMER FLINT

But There Was Not Water Enough To Do Any Harm.

Columbus, Ga., September 20.—(Special.) Early this morning the steamer Flint ran into a rock in the Chattahoochee river just above King's rock, near River Junction, Fla., and sank to the bottom of the stream in ten minutes. Luckily the water was quite deep, and the river being low and not over a foot deep, the lower deck was submerged.

The vessel was raised during the day and proceeded to Chattooga. She will be placed on the ways at Apalachicola and repaired.

Columbus, Ga., September 20.—(Special.) Abraham Lincoln McDonald, collector of customs, today bound over on the charges of embezzling a postal order and forging an endorsement to the same. He is a republican leader and took a prominent part in the recent state convention. He was one of the McKinley electors in the last election.

Bound Over for Burglary.

Frank Russell, a burglar, was bound over before Justice Landrum yesterday on a $2000 bond. Russell is the negro whom Detective Walton and Sergeant Bedford were going to investigate Tuesday night when the former slipped from the car and was shot by his own pistol falling from his pocket.

A KNIFE USED IN A FIGHT.

A. R. Davison Cut by H. E. Delaney, Trial in Police Court.

A. R. Davison appeared in the police court yesterday afternoon with his face badly cut in three or four places. There was one ugly cut across the neck and one on the face.

Two other men, A. E. McCorrell and H. E. Delaney, were tried with Davison. The three men had had a fight in a house on Collins street night before last.

The recorder fined each of the men $10.75. Davison gave notice of an appeal. He said he also intended to swear out a warrant for Delaney for assault with intent to murder.

HEIRS FILE CLAIM UNDER TRUST DEED

Children of Peter A. Hughes Make Legal Fight for City Property.

CASE NOW PENDING IN COURT

Their Father Left a Deed of Trust Under Which Claim Is Made.

MISS PRATHER IS NOW IN POSSESSION

Her Claim to the Property Is Based Upon Titles Which Came Down Through Several Years.

The children of the late Peter A. Hughes are suing to recover some valuable property located at the corner of Courtland avenue and East Cain street, which they claim under the terms of a deed of trust which was executed by their father in 1888.

The property is now claimed by Miss Eva Prather, who has filed a suit to have the claim to the property under a chain of titles which are said to have passed through various persons down to the present time.

The case is brought by W. H. Hughes, attorney for the heirs, and is now pending in the court of common pleas.

The trial of the case yesterday, the fate of the plaintiffs and defendant alike was in the balance, the advantage being on one side and then on the other, a number of motions to nonsuit and dismiss being made by both sides.

It seems that the fact that the river is low in Columbus is attributed to the free use of water by Atlanta, the people there claiming that Atlanta uses about 12,000,000 gallons of water per day, and at a time when the river is unusually low causes the water to be injuriously low.

Superintendent Woodward, when asked about the matter yesterday, stated that it was not just to blame Atlanta for the low water, and that an investigation of the matter would show that the water we use is not the same as it is all along the river.

George Hillyer, president of the water board, when asked if the use of water here could affect the condition of the river at Columbus, said that under the existing circumstances it could not. He stated, as did Mr. Woodward, that the greater quantity of the water ran back to the river after we use it.

"Our sewers are arranged," said he, "so that the water after passing through them finds its way back into the river." He says the water here is low, and attributes the lowness of it both here and at Columbus to the continued dry weather we have experienced.

City engineer Clayton also attributes the lowness of the river to the dry weather and holds that the use of water by Atlanta makes no change in the river at Columbus.

It seems from publications in Columbus that there has been some talk of taking the matter to the courts and preventing Atlanta from using so much water. This could, of course, be done, but Judge Hillyer is of the opinion that if the matter will be investigated by Columbus it will be found that Atlanta is being done an injustice.

From this it would appear that the wrath of Columbus could more justly be turned on the weather man than on Atlanta, because, as a matter of fact, according to the views of those in a position to know, it is really the weather and not Atlanta that is to be blamed.

TRAINING FIREMEN
TO SAVE LIVESAtlanta Fire Department Equipped with New Life Saving Apparatus.

CUMMINGS IS THE INSTRUCTOR

He Will Train the Fire Laddies in the Use of the New 'Life Savers.'

PRACTICE WAS BEGUN YESTERDAY MORNING

The House at Headquarters Is Used and Every Man in Department
Will Receive Instructions.

CAP JOYNER'S men are now undergoing thorough instruction in the latest methods of saving persons from burning buildings. Their instructor is Assistant Chief W. B. Cummings, who on his recent trip to New York took a course under the instructor of the New York department.

The very latest apparatus used in life saving has been obtained by Chief Joyner, and with this the fire department is equipped. It is the intention of Chief Joyner to make every man in the department thoroughly proficient in this work, and each will be trained under Assistant Chief Cummings. Hereafter every man placed on the fire department will take the course before he is given regular work.

Some time ago a house was erected in the rear of engine house No. 1 and in this the men will practice. The house is three stories high and was erected for the purpose of practice.

Among the apparatus with which the department is now equipped are huge life belts to be worn by the firemen. Attached to this belt is a hatchet and other articles useful in making one's way into a burning building. A ladder is provided with which the wearer can fasten himself to a beam and have the free use of both arms. This strap is also used in descending a rope. The rope is fastened in the burning building, and with a dexterous movement on the part of the fireman the rope is wrapped about the snap in such a manner that it will allow him to slide to the ground without any effort whatever in his hands, and without having to hold the rope tight. In this manner it is possible for a fireman to bring a suffocated person from a high window without the necessity of a ladder and without exposing himself to any great risk.

One of the most important features of the new apparatus are the Pompier ladders, which are the first ever seen in Atlanta. They can be used on the very tallest building, and with them a fireman can climb to the very top of a tall structure.

To look at them they seem very frail and do not appear strong enough to bear the weight of one man, but their balance is deceptive. The ladder is one straight piece of iron and wood with cross pieces projecting on either side. At the top end is a piece of iron which projects out several feet and is in the shape of a ladder. This is thrust through a window and supports the ladder while the fireman climbs to his desired height.

Reaching the window he lifts the ladder and places the end in the window above and continues his climb. In this way he can ascend the tallest building in Atlanta and use only one ladder and exert himself very little.

Another important part of the equipment is a Wilson automatic life saver. This machine will be of great value in lowering people from burning buildings, and it can be operated without any one having a gate.

The petition of the citizens of South Butler street from East Hunter street to Capitol avenue asking that the name of that part of the street be changed was advertised by the committee. It was decided that the change of names of streets causes confusion and trouble in the matter of deeds and papers and for that reason the committee will oppose making a change in this instance.

The committee had before it the celebrated gate ordinance introduced by Alderman Woodward several weeks ago. The ordinance will be amended and reported favorably by the committee. It will require that all gates in the city shall be so constructed that they will not remain open over the sidewalks. Where a gate cannot be so hung the owner must attach a self-closer to the gate.

STONE MOUNTAIN VS. DECATUR

DeKalb County Seat Fight Stirs Up Strife.

SERIOUS CHARGES ARE ALLEGED

Both Sides Aim the Fight and Are Relentlessly Urging Their Re-sons and Watching Closely.

The fight for the county seat of DeKalb is getting hotter each day. Both sides are looking upon the other with suspicion and watching closely.

Both sides claim to be far in the lead of the other and greater endeavors than before will be put forth until the legislature meets. The citation saying that the people of Stone Mountain would ask that the courthouse be moved to their town has been posted and the bill will be introduced in the house of representatives almost as soon as it is called to order.

The petitions of the people of Decatur are circulating very rapidly and it is claimed that they now have over half of the registered voters of the county on them. Much strife and some hard feeling has arisen over the matter of the high and charges and counter charges have been made on either side.

The most serious charge is being made by the people of Stone Mountain, which is to the effect that the Decatur people are paying for signatures to the petitions. This is denied by those who favor the move for the county seat.

Adolph Under, a young man living in Edgewood, says that he was employed to secure names to the petition and that he secured 300 of them.

He says that he has been circulating the petitions for some time and has been doing the best he could, as he was being paid for the work. He says he did his work in a legitimate way.

Miss Lewis's Recital

Draws Good Audience

THE RECITAL given last evening in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association by Miss Ada Evelyn Lewis and Miss Emily Foster Greene was an entire success. It was given under the auspices of and for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Christian church and a comfortable sum was realized.

The auditorium was well filled when the time appointed for the opening of the entertainment arrived and the attention which was accorded to the two young ladies was well deserved. Miss Lewis commenced her part of the programme with a reading that easily caught the attention of the audience.

She brought tears to the eyes of many by her rendition of the selection and afterwards whenever she made her appearance on the platform she was greeted by applause. Miss Lewis is a student of the Emerson College of Oratory, which is located in Boston. It may be her charming personality or it may be her gestures, but there is undeniably a subtle charm in her every word and movement that is very pleasing. Miss Lewis will attend the Emerson college again this winter.

Miss Greene is a native of New York and is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, which is located in Boston. She not only showed wonderful talent on the piano, but her voice is one of great volume and sweet. Miss Greene recently came to this city with her family from Tallapoosa, Ga.

The audience was an appreciative one and showered applause upon the young ladies at every opportunity. The programme was as follows:

Piano—Deuxieme Scherzo (second), opus 28 flat minor, Chopin—Miss Greene. Reading—"How the La Rue Stakes Were Laid," Wood—Miss Lewis. Song—"When the Heart Is Young," Buck—Miss Greene. Reading (a)—"The Brook," Tennyson; (b) Songs (a)—"When Love Is Dear," Lynes; (b) "Cradio Song," Trumbull—Miss Greene. Reading—"Aunt Hitty's Account of the Family," K. D. Wiggin—Miss Lewis. Piano—"Spinning Song," Litolff—Miss Greene. Song—"The Golden Promise," Lan—Miss Greene. Reading (a)—"The Tapestry Weavers," (b) "One, Two, Three," (c) "Old Sweetheart of Mine," Riley—Miss Lewis.

Duchess Consuelo's Son. As the little duke, son of the duke and duchess of Marlborough, advances in weeks interest centers in the details of his life and especially his wardrobe. Women in England and America, read with interest descriptions given of his "little highness" clothing, while his name has already been placed upon the most exclusive club lists of London and New York. A London correspondent in a copyright letter to Mr. W. H. McCloud, writes:

"From the moment of his birth the marquis of Blandford inherits $25,000 per year. It is elaborately apparelled and attended by nearly half a dozen nurses. He has six dozen pairs of shoes, three dozen night robes, twenty wrappers, and eighteen coverlets, all of the finest cambic. He is already a bigger wardrobe than ever Blandford has ever had in his dressing room. It commenced accumulating many weeks before he was born, until it has imposed a sum of $10,000 to add to the multitude of the myriad of spolios garments at the Marlborough heir's disposal. Some of them will not be worn by the son of the house of Churchill. In the wardrobe of long white robes alone the young marquis has a choice of, could be shown, about six dozen sets of them. They are all brocaded with lace of the costliest description, besides hand embroidery of many months' workmanship. One dozen of these are made of silk, and the remainder of the temperatures has been carefully tested. The infant heir is taken into the ante-room of the duchess' apartment to receive hosts of visiting courtiers, relatives and friends. The old English custom of baby caps is strictly observed in the house. Tiny Blandford has over two dozen of them. They are all hand embroidered and have local names, which are comparable with the names of the cities in the country. Including the paid up membership there is a direct following of over 500,000. On the thousandth day of his birth, the members were secured last year, and the national treasurer, Mrs. Helen M. Baird, reported $72,000 received. The duchess did not receive the money received and expended by the organization as a whole, which only send 10 cents to the duchess, which only gives the state 25 cents annually."

The temperature hospital and training school for girls at Marlborough is in Chicago, in which are the headquarters of the National Union, one of the Windy City's great buildings and its architect was John Root, who was born and reared in Atlanta.

Mallom Society Meets. Yesterday as noon the Mallom Society of the Girls' High school met in Brownington. There are five nurses, two by day and two by night, and each nurse is allowed to see a patient. The school house is allowed to see the young marquis, the future master, once a day. This exhibition is almost like a light opera, and the audience increases in weight is the most interesting subject of discussion. At birth he weighed eight and one-half pounds. He weighs now nearly eleven pounds, a gain of almost six ounces a day. Next to this arguments are fierce as to whether the baby favors the Church or Vanderbilt, the former on the side of the American branch. The duchess will certainly be about at the usual time. The day improvement is in progress, and is considered highly. Congratulatory telegrams, cables and letters still pour in hourly. The marquis of Blandford, at the age of eight months, is the darling of the leading London clubs. A barrel of port bottles and Blandford are stored in the cellar for twenty-one years.

A Novel Entertainment. Now that the autumn season is well at hand, the Winter Wheel Club will resume their charming "meets," and begin on Saturday, October 12th. The New York Sun in its page of woman's news Sunday gives the following description of a novel bicycle entertainment recently given in the north and called a "progressive bicycle dinner":

A clever woman who is a member of a club recently devised a novel plan of entertaining the club, namely, with a progressive wheel dinner. Two other members were taken into the secret by the hostess to assist in the work.

The club's thirty members were invited to meet at the home of one of the assistants for dinner and to come upon their wheels. The guests were ushered into the dining room, seated at five circular tables beautifully arranged with roses. Two courses, oysters and soup, with appropriate wines, were served when the ladies got up, presented a rose to each lady, assigned the names to their partners, and invited the guests to mount their wheels and follow their leaders. A mile run brought the party to the house of the member who suggested the entertainment, where the interrupted repast was resumed. Her savory fish, delicious roasts and entrees, game and salad were served, the dinner being full justice to the viands. The guests were again invited to mount their wheels, finding their partners this time by the color of the ribbon streamers that had been fastened to the handle bars of the wheel. A ride of two short blocks brought them to the illuminated houses and the secret. Dainties and coffee were enjoyed here, and the evening closed with a progressive game of cards.

Love's Romance at West End.

Mr. Caldwell is about twenty years of age and Miss Iris is seventeen. She is a beautiful young woman and he is a prominent young West Ender. They have known each other for years and attended school together.

The story is romantic one and tells how the school day love grew into stronger affections until yesterday the young couple decided to a run away and marry.

Tailor Coats Are Longer.

As the tailor coat is the one upon which Dame Fashion is most interested now, she must know that the coats are longer than for several previous years, and that the single breasted style is quite the swaggering thing.
